

Dear SKY STEWARD

Connect Via Helsinki; Spa On-The-Fly!

September 16, 2009 by Gailen
Filed under air travel

The next time you fly Finnair, you'll be enjoying the convenience of the brand new terminal extensions at their Helsinki hub. And coming in December 2009, when making connections at Helsinki you'll have the opportunity to relax and recharge in a fabulous new 250 seat via.lounge and a restful spa area, via.spa.

The spa offers four separate saunas, treatment rooms for express treatments as well as those of a more leisurely nature, various foot treatments and a mineral water pool for health baths. What a great reason to plan an impromptu trip to India or the Far East! (Finnair offers some of the fastest connections in many cases)

The via.spa sauna even offers a gorgeous view of the airport operations as you relax and enjoy. Oh, no...I hope that's not your plane taxiing out to the runway! Don't worry, there are much worse places to relax right through the departure of your flight!

All customers waiting for flights may use the via.lounge and via.spa for a fee. Business Class and Finnair Plus top tier cardholders can use the lounge free of charge, and there is no charge for the spa to Platinum cardholders. There is more information regarding lounge access at the Finnair website.