Senior Connections, a home and community-based service organization in Atlanta, has announced that Liane Levetan, former CEO for DeKalb County (1993 – 2000) will receive the 2011 "Community Connections" Award. This award, established in 2009, recognizes older adults who have been and continue to be outstanding business and community leaders and have given back significantly to the communities in which they live and work.

During her tenure as CEO, DeKalb County won an All-America City Award.

The Community Connections award ceremony will take place during Senior Connections' third annual 'Senior Prom' on Saturday, May 21. Atlanta's beloved Monica Pearson, WSB-TV Anchor, will serve as the prom's Master of Ceremony. The 'black-tie optional' fundraiser with its theme: "Celebrating Aging!" will be held at the Letitia Pate Evans Building on the Agnes Scott College Campus in Decatur and will include a reception, silent auction and dinner program. Dancing to the sounds of a big band orchestra, will top off the evening.
